

Goldwater Lecture

The Press and Politics in the 2008 Campaign

Presented by
The Arizona Historical Foundation
and
The Walter Cronkite School of Journalism and Mass Communication

Aaron Brown

*Walter Cronkite
Professor of Journalism*

If you relied on Aaron Brown's fine reporting on television, you are sure to enjoy him in person. He knows the players, the issues, and the global impact of the American political process. For political junkies and arm-chair media critics, nothing can be better than Mr. Brown's commentary on the 2008 Presidential Campaigns.

Mr. Brown's distinguished radio and television journalism career spans over 26 years. He has reported, anchored, co-hosted for CNN, ABC, NBC, and CBS. He has played lead roles in breaking stories ranging from Columbine to the World Trade Center and O.J Simpson to Nelson Mandela. From triumph to tragedy, he has witnessed and reported on it all.

Come see what the buzz is about!
Hear Aaron Brown up close and personal.

Wednesday, January 30th

Virginia Piper Auditorium
College of Medicine
600 E Van Buren, Phoenix
(access parking from 7th street between Van Buren and Fillmore)

◆ Reception from 5:15-6pm

◆ Lecture from 6-7pm

◆ RSVP seats limited

Contact:
The Arizona Historical Foundation
480-965-3283

Free Admission

Underwritten by Bill Cross of Cash Sullivan & Cross Inc.

ASU Walter Cronkite
SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM
AND MASS COMMUNICATION
ARIZONA STATE UNIVERSITY