

SERIES VII: Artifacts and Memorabilia

Scope and Content:

Originally this material represented nearly 400 linear feet. Many of these items have been de-accessioned. Best practices for artifact retention and AHF policies for de-accession were observed. Those items that met one or more of the following criteria were retained:

- Storage space required was sustainable
- Material could be displayed in context
- Intrinsic value (material, aesthetics, uniqueness, representational value)
- Good physical condition
- Did not require additional long term preservation or restoration

Many large military artifacts (approximately 100 linear feet) were de-accessioned to the Commemorative Air Force Museum at Falcon Field where there was a Goldwater military exhibit already in place. In January 2006, Senator Goldwater's children were invited to select from those artifacts that did not meet retention criteria. Approximately 250 linear feet were de-accessioned at that time. Successful efforts were made to re-claim artifacts on temporary exhibit at various locations in the Phoenix area.

Senator Goldwater was an ardent collector. He donated his extensive airplane model collection to the Oskosh Air Museum and his famous Kachina collection to the Heard Museum. He also collected western art, was an automobile enthusiast and a gun collector - all of which are reflected in his personal correspondence as well as photographs. He was the recipient of many awards representing the breadth and depth of his political, military, and personal achievements including the Thayer Award, Aviation Hall of Fame, the International Swimming Hall of Fame, and the National Congress of American Indians Congressional Award.
